

Positive adjectives that start with J

38 adjectives with meanings and examples. Updated 10 October 2026. Free to print and share in a classroom.

Jake adj.

Satisfactory, agreeable, or in good working order.

Once the loose cable was secured, everything was jake.

Jammy adj.

Very lucky or pleasingly advantageous in informal British use.

Her jammy draw gave the team an easier semifinal.

Jannock adj.

Honest, fair, and straightforward in northern English use.

The jannock referee calmly explained every decision without favor.

Jaunty adj.

Cheerful, lively, and confidently informal.

He wore a jaunty hat that made the children smile.

Jaw-dropping adj.

So impressive or beautiful that it causes amazement.

The choir's jaw-dropping sunset performance earned a standing ovation.

Jazzed adj.

Excited, enthusiastic, and full of energy.

The students were jazzed about showing their robots to the visitors.

Jazzy adj.

Bright, lively, or rhythmically spirited.

The designer chose a jazzy pattern for the festival poster.

Jestful adj.

Playfully inclined toward jokes and good-natured humor.

His jestful toast kept the celebration warm and relaxed.

Jesting adj.

Playful and humorous rather than seriously critical.

Her jesting reply eased the tension around the table.

Jewel-like adj.

Brilliant, beautiful, or finely formed like a jewel.

Jewel-like berries glowed brightly among the dark winter leaves.

Jewel-toned adj.

Colored in rich, vivid shades resembling precious gems.

Jewel-toned cushions brought warmth to the quiet reading room.

Jeweled adj.

Decorated with jewels or shining as brightly as them.

A jeweled costume sparkled beneath the stage lights.

Jiggish adj.

Lively, playful, or well suited to a jig.

The fiddler chose a jiggish tune for the finale.

Job-ready adj.

Prepared with the skills and confidence needed to begin work.

The course helped graduates become job-ready in twelve weeks.

Jocose adj.

Playful in manner and fond of joking.

His jocose greeting set a friendly tone for the workshop.

Jocular adj.

Fond of joking or spoken in a playful manner.

Her jocular remark eased the tension without dismissing the concern.

Jocund adj.

Cheerful, lighthearted, and full of high spirits.

Jocund neighbors filled the courtyard with music and laughter.

Joined adj.

Connected or united with others.

The joined teams shared equipment and finished before sunset.

Joking adj.

Spoken or done with playful humorous intent.

His joking suggestion soon inspired a genuinely useful idea.

Jolly adj.

Cheerful, friendly, and full of good humor.

The jolly shopkeeper remembered every child's favorite fruit.

Jovial adj.

Warmly cheerful and sociable.

Their jovial host kept conversation moving around the table.

Joy-filled adj.

Full of happiness, delight, or celebration.

The reunion became a joy-filled evening of stories and music.

Joy-giving adj.

Bringing happiness or delight to others.

Her joy-giving visits brightened many quiet afternoons.

Joyful adj.

Feeling, showing, or causing great happiness.

A joyful crowd welcomed the runners across the finish line.

Joyous adj.

Full of or causing great happiness.

The graduation was a joyous occasion for the whole family.

Joysome adj.

Causing, showing, or filled with genuine joy.

The reunion was a joysome end to their long separation.

Jubilant adj.

Showing great joy after a success or welcome event.

Jubilant supporters filled the square after the team won.

Judgment-free adj.

Welcoming and free from criticism or condemnation.

The group offered a judgment-free place to ask questions.

Judicious adj.

Showing careful thought and sound judgment.

A judicious pause gave the panel time to check the evidence.

Juicy adj.

Pleasantly full of flavor, interest, or appealing detail.

The ripe peaches were sweet and juicy.

Junoesque adj.

Having stately, dignified, and striking feminine beauty.

The actor carried the Junoesque costume with serene confidence.

Just adj.

Fair and guided by sound principles.

The mediator worked toward a just outcome for both families.

Just-folks adj.

Friendly, informal, and unaffected by status or pretension.

Her just-folks manner helped every volunteer feel equally valued.

Just-right adj.

Exactly suitable, satisfactory, or appropriate for the purpose.

The smaller room felt just-right for an intimate concert.

Justice-minded adj.

Strongly concerned with fairness and the rights of others.

The justice-minded lawyer offered free advice at the shelter.

Justifiable adj.

Able to be supported by good reasons or evidence.

The extra expense was justifiable because it made the crossing safer.

Justified adj.

Shown to be reasonable, right, or supported by evidence.

The team's confidence was justified by repeated successful tests.

Juvenescent adj.

Becoming youthful, fresh, or vigorous once more.

Juvenescent green shoots appeared after the season's careful pruning.