

Positive nouns that start with R

58 nouns with meanings and examples. Updated 10 October 2026. Free to print and share in a classroom.

Raconteur n.

A gifted person who tells stories with wit and skill.

The raconteur held the dinner guests spellbound with one lively tale.

Radiance n.

Bright light or a clear expression of happiness and health.

The bride's radiance filled every photograph.

Rainmaker n.

A person whose skill brings valuable opportunities or success.

The community rainmaker secured sponsors for the new youth center.

Rapport n.

A warm relationship built on mutual trust and understanding.

The nurse established an easy rapport with the nervous patient.

Rapprochement n.

A restoration of friendly and cooperative relations.

The joint festival encouraged rapprochement between the neighboring towns.

Rapture n.

A feeling of intense joy or delighted wonder.

The children watched the fireflies with quiet rapture.

Readiness n.

The state of being prepared and willing to act.

Regular practice gave the crew confidence in its readiness.

Realization n.

The act of understanding something clearly or making it real.

The garden was the realization of a plan shaped by local children.

Reasoning n.

Careful thought used to reach a conclusion.

His reasoning was clear enough for every student to follow.

Reassurance n.

Comfort or confidence given to reduce worry.

The successful safety test offered welcome reassurance.

Receptiveness n.

Willingness to listen to or consider something new.

Her receptiveness encouraged quieter members to contribute.

Recognition n.

Appreciation or credit for a quality, effort, or achievement.

The volunteers received recognition for years of patient service.

Recompense n.

A fair reward or repayment for effort or loss.

The cooperative offered generous recompense for the farmers' extra work.

Reconnection n.

The restoration of a relationship, link, or sense of belonging.

Their reconnection began with a warm letter.

Record-setter n.

A person who achieves a new highest standard.

The record-setter thanked her training partners after the final race.

Recovery n.

A return to health, strength, or a sound condition.

Regular therapy supported his steady recovery.

Recreation n.

Enjoyable activity that refreshes the body or mind.

The new trail gives families a safe place for recreation.

Rectitude n.

Moral honesty and principled correctness in conduct.

Her quiet rectitude earned lasting trust across the organization.

Redress n.

A remedy that corrects an injustice or unfair loss.

The agreement provided meaningful redress to families displaced by construction.

Refinement n.

A careful improvement that makes something more effective or polished.

One small refinement made the handle easier to grip.

Reflection n.

Careful thought about an experience, idea, or meaning.

A few minutes of reflection clarified her next step.

Reformer n.

A person who works to correct injustice or harmful systems.

The respected reformer built broad support for accessible public schools.

Refreshment n.

Food, drink, or rest that restores energy.

Cool water provided welcome refreshment after the long walk.

Refuge n.

A safe place offering shelter, protection, or comfort.

The shaded courtyard became a quiet refuge during hot afternoons.

Regard n.

Respect, esteem, or thoughtful consideration for someone.

The retiring teacher was held in high regard throughout the town.

Rejoicing n.

The expression of great happiness or celebration.

Bells and singing marked the town's rejoicing.

Rejuvenation n.

The restoration of energy, freshness, or vitality.

New trees began the rejuvenation of the neglected park.

Relaxation n.

A state or activity that releases tension and restores calm.

Gardening became his favorite form of relaxation.

Reliability n.

The quality of being consistently dependable or accurate.

The generator's reliability matters during winter storms.

Relief n.

Comfort that follows the end or easing of pain, fear, or difficulty.

The repaired heating brought relief to the whole building.

Remedy n.

A treatment or action that corrects a problem.

Better drainage proved to be a simple remedy for the flooded path.

Remembrance n.

Respectful memory of a valued person or event.

The planted oak became a living remembrance of the town's founders.

Remission n.

A welcome reduction or disappearance of disease symptoms.

Her latest tests showed the illness remained in remission.

Renaissance n.

A renewed period of creativity, learning, or flourishing.

The renovated theater sparked a renaissance in local performance.

Renewal n.

The process of becoming strong, fresh, or active again.

Spring brought a sense of renewal to the community garden.

Repartee n.

Quick, clever conversation filled with playful replies.

Their warm repartee kept the long train journey entertaining.

Repose n.

A state of peaceful rest and calm.

The quiet garden offered an hour of repose after the journey.

Reprieve n.

Welcome relief from danger, difficulty, or punishment.

The overnight rain brought farmers a reprieve from the drought.

Rescuer n.

A person who saves others from danger or difficulty.

The rescuer carried the exhausted swimmer to shore.

Resilience n.

The ability to recover, adapt, or remain strong through difficulty.

The orchard's resilience improved after farmers diversified the crops.

Resolution n.

Firm determination or a successful solution to a problem.

The agreement offered a fair resolution to the dispute.

Resourcefulness n.

Skill in finding workable solutions with available resources.

Her resourcefulness kept the clinic running during the outage.

Respite n.

A welcome period of rest from difficulty or effort.

The visiting carers gave the family a much-needed respite.

Responsibility n.

A duty accepted with care and accountability.

She took responsibility for correcting the scheduling error.

Responsiveness n.

Readiness to respond quickly and helpfully.

The clinic's responsiveness reassured worried families.

Restitution n.

The restoration of something lost or unfairly taken.

The museum arranged restitution of the carving to its community.

Restoration n.

The act of returning something to a sound or valued condition.

The bridge restoration preserved its original stonework.

Restraint n.

Calm self-control shown in action or expression.

Her restraint kept the tense discussion respectful and productive.

Resurgence n.

A renewed rise in strength, activity, or popularity.

The town welcomed a resurgence of independent bookshops.

Revelry n.

Lively celebration filled with enjoyment and high spirits.

Music and friendly revelry continued around the square until dusk.

Reverence n.

Deep respect inspired by worth, wisdom, or sacredness.

The guide spoke about the ancient forest with quiet reverence.

Reverie n.

A pleasant state of dreamy, unhurried thought.

Birdsong drew her into a peaceful morning reverie.

Revival n.

A return to activity, strength, popularity, or health.

The weekly market sparked a revival of the town center.

Rhapsody n.

An enthusiastic expression of joy, praise, or inspiration.

Her review was a rhapsody about the dancers' joyful performance.

Richness n.

Abundance of value, quality, meaning, or variety.

The neighborhood's cultural richness shaped the festival.

Rockstar n.

A person admired for exceptional skill or achievement.

Our volunteer rockstar organized every delivery before the storm arrived.

Role model n.

A person whose good example inspires others.

The patient captain became a role model for younger players.

Romance n.

A loving relationship or atmosphere of affectionate excitement.

Their quiet romance grew through letters and Sunday walks.